

NEAL K. KATYAL

Prior to joining Georgetown Law, Professor Katyal was law clerk to Justice Stephen G. Breyer of the U.S. Supreme Court and to Judge Guido Calabresi of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals. During 1998-99, Professor Katyal served as National Security Adviser to the Deputy Attorney General, U.S. Department of Justice. He was commissioned by President Clinton in 1999 to co-author a report on ways the legal profession can enhance its pro bono activities and diversify the Bar, served as co-counsel to Vice President Al Gore in the United States Supreme Court case of Bush v. Palm Beach Canvassing Board in 2000, and was Visiting Professor at Yale Law School in 2001-02 and Harvard Law School in 2002.

Professor Katyal's publications have appeared in Yale Law Journal, Harvard Law Review, University of Chicago Law Review, Stanford Law Review, Michigan Law Review, and Pennsylvania Law Review. His primary academic interests are Constitutional Law (primarily separation of powers, constitutional legitimacy, presidential power, slavery and affirmative action), Criminal Law (particularly cybercrime, conspiracy, architectural solutions to crime and the role of deterrence), and Education Law.

Professor Katyal currently serves as chief counsel in Swift v. Rumsfeld, currently pending in district court, which is the first challenge brought against American military tribunals since World War II. He is also chief counsel to the Military Attorneys Assigned to the Defense in the Office of Military Commissions, who are participating as amicus in the United States Supreme Court case on Guantanamo Al Odah v. United States.

Professor Katyal holds a J.D. from Yale Law School.
