

Teaching for Understanding

Presented by James Reese

Jim Reese, a doctoral student at George Washington University, will focus on Teaching for Understanding, a project developed at Harvard University in collaboration with teachers in the Boston area. It provides a simple four-part framework which "gives teachers a language and strategy for enhancing their efforts to teach for understanding."

Jim has had an extensive career in education as an English teacher, faculty member for the Project Zero Classroom Summer Institute at Harvard, and currently as adjunct professor at George Washington University.
