May and August 2019 Graduates

Your first stop is the Office of the University Registrar Graduation website. Important information about timelines and the entire graduation process can be found at registrar.gmu.edu/graduation.

All George Mason University graduates must apply to graduate even if they do not plan to participate in Commencement ceremonies. If you will complete your degree requirements in May, you should have already applied for spring 2019 graduation. If you have not done so, you should apply immediately. The deadline to apply online (Patriot Web) is February 22, 2019. If you do not apply online by that date, you must submit a paper Late Graduation Application, as described on the Graduation website.

If you will complete your degree requirements in August and would like to participate in the Spring Commencement ceremonies, your deadline to apply is February 22, 2019. Undergraduate and Master’s August graduation candidates may participate in the spring ceremony. August 2019 doctoral candidates will participate in the Winter 2019 Graduation and are not eligible to participate in the spring 2019 ceremony.

Please remember that you must apply to graduate by February 22 or your name will not appear in the printed Commencement program.

- Thesis and dissertation deadlines are posted at thesis.gmu.edu.
- Students who have placed a confidential hold on their record will be excluded from the graduation program. If you have a confidential hold and wish for your name to be included in the program, the hold must be removed by February 22, 2019.

George Mason University Commencement

What's the difference between Commencement and the Degree Celebrations?

Commencement—Friday, May 17, 10 a.m., EagleBank Arena

The entire university community is invited to this formal event at which degrees are ceremoniously conferred by the university president.

- Ceremony begins with a graduate procession through campus. Procession begins moving at 9:30 a.m.
- Official university guest speaker delivers Commencement address.
- Selected student speaker representing the Class of 2019 delivers address.

Visit www2.gmu.edu/spring-graduation for entry details.

- Event is televised.
- Tickets are not required for guests.
- PhD graduates are individually recognized, hooded, and photographed on stage receiving their degrees. All graduates are acknowledged by deans or directors and the university president.
- Caps and gowns are worn.

Degree Celebrations—See schedule on previous page.

These are celebrations of degrees sponsored by individual units.

- Individual school and college graduates only.
- All guests are welcome; tickets are not required.
- All graduates are individually recognized and photographed on stage.
- Each school and college selects speakers.
- Caps and gowns are worn.

Graduates are encouraged to attend both the official university Commencement ceremony and their specific degree celebration ceremony.

Each Spring 2019 ceremony is expected to last approximately two hours. This includes the university-wide Commencement ceremony on Friday morning and all other degree celebrations held for the various colleges. All graduates and their guests are asked to stay for the entire ceremony for any event they attend.

If you choose to attend the live Commencement ceremony at EagleBank Arena, please show respect and dignity to your faculty, your fellow graduates, and their families by remaining for the entire event. It is not appropriate or acceptable at this venue to walk out before all graduates attending have been recognized and the ceremony has officially ended.

If you or your family are not able to stay for the entire Commencement, please go to the Concert Hall to watch the broadcast of the live ceremony. You may leave whenever necessary from that venue.

Guest Attendance Information for Commencement Ceremony, May 17, 10 a.m.

Seating is open and available on a general admission basis.

Guest tickets for the Commencement ceremony are not required.

Doors open at 9 a.m. for all guests. It is advisable to arrive at this time.

If EagleBank Arena reaches capacity, the overflow viewing area will be in the Concert Hall on Mason Pond Drive, across Patriot Circle from the arena. Shuttles will be available at the South Entrance to transport anyone needing assistance to the Concert Hall.

Seating in all sections of EagleBank Arena, Rows E, F, and G are marked reserved for special needs. These rows are on the concourse level and are easy access seating that do not require the use of stairs.

Wheelchair accessible seating is available in the four corner portals 4, 8, 13, and 17.

Ushers are stationed at each portal to help with seating.

All bachelor's and master's graduates should meet at Mason Pond Drive for the processional lineup. Doctoral candidates should meet in the Concert Hall Lobby for lineup.

IMPORTANT: Graduates, for security reasons, be prepared to present your Mason ID or provide your G number when you arrive at Mason Pond Drive or EagleBank Arena. Please do not carry a bag or purse to the event, as this may delay entry into the arena.

Inform your guests of EagleBank Arena’s security policy found at www.eaglebankarena.com/article/security-policy. Check regularly for updates and additional information at www2.gmu.edu/spring-graduation.
